A MILLION DOLLAR COTTON MILL!

BERKSHIRE MILL NO. 3.

The Mill to have 80,000 Spindles, over 2,000 Looms, and will give Employment to 1,000 Persons. Magnificent Enterprise for Berkshire and Largest Cotton Mill in America.

The fates are kind these times to Adams. Zylonite has been revived to her and now she is to be given the largest cotton mill of America. The mill will be the property of the Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing company and will be known as Berkshire No. 3. It will be located on the land west of the Boston and Albany railroad track, extending along Depot street from Hoosac street to the corner of Pleasant and School streets. The site is now occupied by the Boston &

Albany freight yard, M. J. Holden & Son's lumber yard, Baker's coal office and W. C. Plunkett & Son's mill, No. 2. The main part of the new mill will be 425 feet long and 118 feet wide and five stories high. There will be an ell on Hoosac street 140 by fifty feet and of the same height as the main building. The mill will contain 80,000 spindles, 2100 looms and will give employment to about 1000 persons. It will cost $1,000,000. Eighteen hundred horse power will be needed.

The company met Thursday night at the home of W. B. Plunkett and completed arrangements for the building of this very large mill. The immensity of the mill cannot be grasped from a mere statement of its dimensions and hardly by any comparison with other like structures. The two large mills of the Berkshire Cotton company known as Nos. 1 and 2 were they combined would not be so large as the one about to be built. It will contain 5,000 more spindles than the present plant and will have 600 more looms. It is the intention to build this mill this season. Work will be begun as soon as the structures on the site are removed. The railroad company will move their tracks and freight house to the east side of main line. The Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing company, who will give this great industry to Adams, have these officers: President, Edward N. Gibbs of Norwich, Ct.; treasurer, W. B. Plunkett of Adams; director, Edward N. Gibbs of Norwich, Ct.; Theodore A. Havemeyer of New York; Hon. David A. Wells of Norwich, Ct.; Hon. Wm. H. Hall of Springfield; Gardner Hall, Jr. of South Willington, Conn.; Stephen A. Jenks of Pawtucket, R. I.; Hon. W. F. Draper of Hopedale, W. B. Plunkett and C. T. Plunkett. The company built their first mill in Adams in 1889, the second in 1892 and now the third one in 1895, a mill every three years.

CRISIS IN ENGLAND.

The Cabinet Troubles Very Grave Today.

LABOR'S BIG MEETING!

PRICE OF STEEL GOES UP!

A Silver Candidate Possible!

ENGLAND'S CABINET.

The Secretary of War Declares his Intention of Resigning.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
LONDON, June 22.—Prior to the meeting of the cabinet today, Mr. Campbell Bannerman, Secretary of War, informed his colleagues of his unalterable determination to resign unless the House of Commons rescinds its note on the question of his salary, that the opposition may criticize the estimates. Only the consideration of adding to the difficulties of the government, he declared, prevented his immediate withdrawal from his office. In some circles it is believed the cabinet will refuse to resign, but will decide to raise the question of confidence, and force it to an immediate vote. Liberal whips express assurances of victory, should the confidence of the House in the ministry be challenged.

LONDON, June 22.—At a cabinet council today it was decided that Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, shall make a statement in the House of Commons Monday next. On the same day, Mr. Ellis, the Liberal whip, will state that the government is pledged to pass the Irish land bill before the dissolution of parliament. The belief gains ground that the ministry will not resign.

It has leaked out that it is the intention of the Government to propose the Duke of Connaught as the new commander-in-chief of the army. The adhesion of conservatives to this scheme has been assumed. Otherwise a proposal could not possibly be put through the house in this matter. The queen has carried her point that a prince of royal blood shall be in chief command of the British army.

IN DEBS' FAVOR.

Labor to Hold Meetings Throughout the United States.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 22.—The officers of the National Federation of labor in this city are preparing to call meetings to be held in every city of the United States a week from next Sunday to denounce the decision by which Debs is suffering imprisonment. The object of the meetings is to secure the passage of a law by the next congress defining the rights of workmen and abolishment of injunction.

ANOTHER NEGRO LYNCHED.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
JACKSON, Miss., June 22.—James Saunders, a negro, murdered his wife Thursday night in Clayborne county. He was hanged to a tree by a mob shortly afterward.

ANOTHER SILVER PLAN.

A Third Ticket to be Put into the Field and the House to Elect.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—United States Senator Roach of North Dakota said here yesterday that the people west of the Mississippi river were solid in favor of free coinage of silver, and that if both of the old parties should declare against it, there would be a silver party formed which would put presidential candidates in nomination next year, and the election in that event would be thrown into the House.

STEEL GOES UP.

Steel Rail Association Sends the Price Up a Notch.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
NEW YORK, June 22.—Steel rail prices have been advanced 3 1/2 a ton and the price of angle bars 4 1/2 a ton. These advances were decided on at a meeting of the Steel Rail association yesterday, and indicate a healthy condition of the steel rail business and increasing demand for rails.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
KINGWOOD, W. Va., June 22.—Lightning struck a dynamite wagon near here last night. Several men were killed and a great deal of property destroyed.

Parlor Lectures.

Two parlor lectures will be given next week in the Congregational church parlor by Mrs. Isabel Spencer Freeland, Monday, June 24, 4 p. m. subject: "Concerning Altruism and Sociology." Friday, June 28, 4 p. m. subject: "Russia, Past and present."

Mrs. Freeland's lectures are highly commended by Dr. Storrs, Dr. Lyman Abbott, Dr. Josiah Strong, Rev. C. A. Dickinson of Berkeley Temple, Boston, and others.
Tickets to these lectures will be fifty cents and may be obtained at Anderson's book store. Mrs. Freeland is connected with a publishing company in Philadelphia. She is a person of exceptional ability and her lectures will be well worth hearing.

At Heron Island.

The braves gathered on the shores of the gen of the sea Tuesday to welcome the king of the tribe of happy feasters Landlord E. Rogers, who arrived with his good wife and help. Now we shall expect soon to hear the old hymns and sacred songs pealing out from the Madocawanda plaza. Welcome Rogers and every other good man, woman or child to our shores and boundless ocean of hospitality.— Boothby (Me.) Register.

No Raise in Wages.

It was announced today in the Boston and Springfield papers that the Hunter Machine company had given notice yesterday of a twelve per cent raise in wages.
H. E. Wetherbee said today there was no such notice given and that there is nothing to give to the public.

Rightfully Scalded.

The three-years-old daughter of F. M.
Lanou of Greylock sat down in a pail of boiling water this morning and was terribly scalded. Dr.
Mignault was called. He found the whole of the child's back affected, the flesh peeling off in places. The injury may be fatal.

Peter and William Gonyea were arraigned in court this morning for assaulting Edward Gay. Mr. Gay was arraigned on a counter charge of assaulting the Gonyeas. Mr. Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jones and Wesley Bordick gave testimony. The story told by the witnesses was almost identical with the one published at the time of the assault. The case was continued a week and all the accused were ordered to find bonds in $300 each.

DRURY GRADUATES.

"They Have Gone Out From Their Alma Mater Into the Wide, Wide World."

INTERESTING EXERCISES CARRIED OUT.

Storm Prevents a Crowded Audience. The Church Beautifully Decorated. Mr.
Spaulding Applauded. An Outline of Each Graduate's Thoughts.

The commencement exercises of the graduating class of Drury high school were held in the Methodist church last evening and owing to the inclemency of the weather the building was not crowded, although a large audience was present.

The church was tastefully decorated by the undergraduates of the school with ferns, palms and flowers. The railing around the platform was a bank of green and on its top were flowers and potted plants, with palms and pines at either end. On the platform, occupying the elevated steps of the choir, were seated the members of the school. At the front and to the left of the platform were seated Rev. Dr. Brown, Superintendent Dewey and Principal Harrington; opposite them were O. A. Archer, C. Q. Richmond, A. A. Anderson and Mrs. Martha
P. Locke of the school committee.

Prior to the entrance of the graduating class the Columbia orchestra rendered a pleasing overture. Promptly at 8 o'clock, walking to solemn music with slow trend, the members of the class of '95 came up the aisle and occupied chairs in front of the other members of the school.
Shortly after the graduating class had entered, and while the organ was yet playing, Ex-Principal Charles Spaulding entered the church. His appearance was the signal for long and loud applause by the members of the school and by the audience.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. George W. Brown and by a chorus from the school.

Miss Ester Irene Dean,
The class salutatorian, was the first of the class to speak, and her subject was "As the Twig is Bent." Miss Dean, in behalf of the class, made welcome to all present.
She then analyzed the learning of humanity, and showed that a human being begins to amass knowledge at infancy. Step by step there was shown the progress of education, and much stress was placed on the mother's charge during the youth of the child. Miss Dean showed wherein the school supplemented the training of the home, particularly as to reading and as to self control. The school room is a miniature of the world and "as the twig is bent" so will the trunk grow; thus it is that in the schoolroom is moulded the future of a soul.

Miss Clara Virginia Cady
Was to have spoken upon "Life in Colonial Days," but did not deliver her essay.

Herbert Ferron Willis Explained "The Norwegian System," in dealing with the liquor traffic. He was strongly in favor of the system and forcibly pointed out the many points of virtue of the Norwegian method of handling the liquor trade and in keeping from the young men, to as great a degree as possible the temptations of intoxication. Mr.
Willis went on to say that he hoped that in the future North Adams would be given an opportunity of testing this system.
Then, our city, if she shall grasp this chance, will have taken one step in advance and will have struck a powerful blow at the adversary of humanity.

The school then sang "The Watch of the Rhine." It was extremely pleasing to the audience.

Miss Anabel Jones
Read an essay upon "Two Scenes in the Life of Anne Boleyn." Miss Jones told of the early life and education of the heroine of her literary effort. She carefully traced the life of the unfortunate queen, told of her personality, her marriage and rise to power, and of her sad, violent death. She told in a touching manner of the bravery and virtue of Anne Boleyn on the way to the scaffold, and of those loyal, last sentiments she expressed to the people, to be

A LOCAL WILD WEST.

HOUGHTONVILLE HAS A SHOW OF ITS OWN WHICH IS UNIQUE.

Boys and Girls Plan and Present a Meritorious Tented Performance.

The shade of Barnum or the influence of Buffalo Bill is at work in Houghtonville, and that neighborhood is entertained by an unusual circus and wild west show.
The boys have had little sleep "o' nights" up there for about a week and pieces of old carpet and well used bed clothing have disappeared from the garrets of many homes.

Underneath the spreading branches of a sheltering elm in the rear of Mr. Whitney's property is a tent which would be taken for the habitation of a Bohemian band, and not for the quarters of the meritorious saw dust ring imitation that it is. The main part is quadrangular in shape, and to it are several additions much resembling Indian wigwags. This resemblance is not inappropriate when the contents are considered. This tent, with its wigwag-like additions, is the home of "Messieurs Big show." The opening performances of this show were given yesterday to a large audience.

Like all circuses the Messier show has a morning parade. Yesterday's parade contained most of the features that all parades contain. It had its band of music and band of Indians and a liberal number of cowboys, all mounted. There were clowns and female performers and an original Deadwood coach. The parade passed through several streets in the section, and it was followed by the strong voiced man who proclaims a free show at the grounds. A large number of the surrounding neighbors followed after the parade and the afternoon performance was given to a fair audience. The price of admission was not a great obstacle, it being only three cents with an addition to make it a nickel if it was desired to stay to the concert.
The accommodations for the audience were in one end of the tent. The seats were fitted up in regular circus-seat-like fashion with the proper amount of liability to fall. About 100 could be seated—comfortably—if there were no objections to pronounced inclinations nor projecting nails. The feeling of insecurity of course could hardly be considered. Perhaps attention of economy more than for ventilation the greater part of the tent had no roof, and the little bit that there was covered the spectators and was plentifully punctured. At night the performance was given under the glare of two house lanterns, one of which would be a profitable lamp-black factory.

The program contains all that could be desired. The specialties are numerous and at the close of each one the three-quit curtain is drawn until the performers again appear. There is a preponderance of comedians, who give many laughable acts. The wild west features are thrilling scenes. The Deadwood coach containing its passengers are followed by a band of weary pioneers. As it moves slowly over the plains the savage Indians appear and with blood curdling yells attack the band. Shots are exchanged rapidly with deadly effect and when all hope seems to be lost the courageous cowboys appear. The battle is waged with renewed vigor and a remnant of the redskins retreats madly leaving many of their blood thirsty companions dying and dead on the scene. This horror is hardly over until the settler's lone cabin is surrounded with savages. The destructive torch is applied and the inmates flee from a fiery death into the unmerciful hands of the human brutes. Before the poised tomahawks fall upon the defenseless heads fire shots ring out and Indian after Indian falls. Again the cowboys have shown their valor. When the savage enemy has been repulsed the rough roamers of the prairies put away their smoking weapons and gently minister to the comforted widow and fatherless babe. With this the circus closes. Then comes the concert in which several of the little girls of the neighborhood appear.
To give it genuine flavor these little girls have discarded the dresses in which they go to school and courageously have donned the Sunday attire of their brothers.
They sing, dance and recite and give a very pleasant entertainment.

Willie Messier is manager and sole proprietor of this show. He conducts it on purely business principles and has a troupe of ten artists. The ingenuity displayed in the whole show is a fine example of what boys can accomplish. The tent is rough, but symmetrically built. Every Indian has his feathers and paint. The firearms are the usual large sized toy pistols with which quite a racket can be made. The "Deadwood" coach is made from a boy's express wagon, barrel hoops and canvas.

This is the third season of Master Messier's success and each year he enlarges his tents and increases the quality and number of his performances. London has her permanent circuses. North Adams has her permanent circuses and the remainder of this state should be envious.

LINES AND GRADES.

A Citizen Thinks They Should be Established Before Doing Permanent Work.

Editor Transcript:—I notice by your paper that some 500 feet or more of curbing is to be laid in our streets this season.
That is all very well. I have no doubt it is needed, but what occurs to me as very inconsistent is that this curbing should be laid before any permanent lines and grades have been established. We get the cart before the horse, so to speak.

There are many places in town where the lines and grades have been changed several times within the past few years, involving unnecessary expense to the taxpayers. Our town affairs, in many respects, have been managed like boys' play.
Take the road from here to Braytonville for an example. This is a four-road county road, and still the lines were never established so that people knew exactly where to build, consequently the buildings, many of them, now encroach upon the street, leaving in many places only

NOT A LEAGUE STRADDLE.

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," and so the present silver movement is not without compensations. We do not think the Democratic party, since its administrative power and irresponsibility began, can be commended either for its purpose or its wisdom, but the course of President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle, and of such Democratic newspapers as the Richmond Times and the Louisville Courier-Journal, toward silver has certainly been patriotic even if self-interested, and it has had effect where influence was most needed.

In contrast with the above out-spokenness against silver, it will probably be argued that the League Meeting of Republican clubs at Cleveland, Ohio, failed of frankness in referring this issue to the next National convention, but we do not think this charge can be fairly made. The wisdom of not crossing a bridge before reaching it is of itself an explanation of the reference. In the Democratic situation this opportunity for delay was cut off by the possibility of state conventions resolving for silver. But at the League Meeting this issue was not so imperative. The silver contingent was in such a minority that its consideration treatment appears plainly as a matter of party courtesy and tact, and does not unfair the prevailing sentiment there for honest money.

Besides it was not altogether proper for this meeting to appropriate action properly belonging to the Republican national convention. The silver advocates would have felt this strongly, though their own presumption at the league meeting would deprive them of a right to take this offense. But heated minds are not considerate and the silver men have much further to disappoint them, and future Republican harmony will not be less, because of the soreness saved them now.

Beside it is well not to blow a falling fire, and the silver craze is manifestly yielding. A straw to this effect is the suspension of the Harveyite publication "coin," which grew out of the surprising popularity of the publisher's pamphlet bearing that title. It is not likely that even exasperation could effectively further the efforts of the Republican friends of silver, but the cause of honest money cannot lose, and stands a chance to gain, by taking from them any claim of prejudgment in such a representative gathering as the league meeting. On the whole, because it was not obligatory, and because it might be irritating, we think the treatment of silver at the league meeting would be called good politics rather than neglect of duty.

ADAMS' GREAT ACCESSION.

Elsewhere in this paper we give in detail the announcement of the great accession to its resources secured to our parent town of Adams through the enterprise of the Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing company. Influential in the leadership of this company are T. A. Havenner, the prominent and wealthy sugar potentate, David A. Wells, of economic distinction as a writer in addition to his ability as a manufacturer, Governor William H. Hall of Springfield, and Congressman Draper of Hopedale. But the moving cause of this great good fortune to our neighbor and this section is the conspicuous energy, ability and town loyalty of the descendants of the late General Plunkett. W. B. Plunkett, the elder, is treasurer of the company, and C. T. Plunkett is clerk. Through their agency and the confidence inspired by their business course and capacity, the present Berkshire mills have been given to Adams, and now an addition is secured greater than the business already developed, and the largest single cotton manufacturing in America. It will employ 1000 hands, which means a population of at least 5000 persons, and by its presence will contribute unprecedently to the prosperity of the town of Adams.

Because of our own necessary share in this community gain we should wish our neighbor's joy from self-interest, but we are sure that higher feelings prompt our present hearty congratulations to our parent town. The ties of blood and long good will unite us. We were glad at the rehabilitation of her Zylonite property, and the growing emergency of her distinguished and esteemed citizen, L. L. Brown, from trying business coils, and now, at this greater gain at the hands of younger citizens, we even more rejoice, not only for the present magnificent advantage, but at the pleasing future their present years and continuing strength predict.

In striking contrast with the brilliant marriage fête of Miss Adele Slocum at Lenox, was the wedding Wednesday afternoon at New York city's Little Church Around the Corner of her cousin, Miss Alice Vanderbilt Shepard, daughter of the late Elliott F. Shepard, to Dave Hendon Morris, son of the late John A. Morris, of the Honduras and Louisiana Lotteries. Miss Shepard's mother did not attend, and the bride gave herself away. The groom is in the junior class of Harvard university, and is said to be a studious young man, and of his large wealth purposes to endow a free surgical hospital in New York city.

In a Yorkville, N. Y., court there recently developed an unusual domestic status. Mrs. McIlwaine, aged forty, had her husband, aged fifty, there for non-support and ill-treatment. The testimony in defense developed the fact that Mrs. McIlwaine obliged her better-half to do the family washing and ironing under the menace and use of a horse-whip, and that rebellion thereat occasioned the issue. The wife admitted the fact, but affirmed it was the only means of extorting assistance for family needs, and that it was too much trouble at that, so the judge pronounced month in jail for the unwilling laundry helpmate.

Ex-Senator Warner Miller, who is a member of the Advisory committee of the Republican State committee of that state recently admonished the Republicans of Oneida county thereagainst State Senator Coggeshall because of his course against reform legislation at Albany in the recent session, and now Senator Coggeshall replies in an interview in the Utica, N. Y. Press, in which he calls Mr. Miller a "political Brutus," a "Judas Iscariot" and a "political Pecksniff." It is indeed fortunate that "hard words break no bones."

Besides the recently-established post-office at Vernon depot, near Brattleboro, Vt., another office has been authorized by the department at the house of Alfred F. Waite, with Mrs. Waite as postmistress, and to be known as Waite, Vt. It is understood to have been established for the special accommodation of Rudyard Kipling, the novelist, who lives in that vicinity. Novelists have always been able to establish postoffices wherever they pleased on paper—but this is the first instance of literal execution in that direction which has come to our knowledge. But it is all in the line of progress. The honors of literature have become common, and he is not much of a man now who cannot have a private postoffice.

Ray York, aged twelve, and Ervin F. Lake, aged seventeen, are holding successful revival services in Missouri. Ray was converted when six years of age, and not long afterward united with the Baptist church, at once becoming a preacher. Ervin is the pastor of the First Baptist church of Mount Carmel, Ill., and is said to be the youngest pastor in the world.

J. Pierpont Morgan has just returned from a trip to Europe in which he has succeeded unusually in finding purchasers for American securities, which for five years past have been offered in our own markets in undesirable abundance. His next job is to reorganize the Northern Pacific system and the Erie railway.

An altercation to the Argyre, N. Y., Republican convention is the announcement of the anti-Platt Burleigh men, who there triumphed, to procure the removal of Sheriff Robinson who, with his deputies, improperly aided, it is claimed, at that conference. A resolution, calling upon Gov. Morton to remove Robinson, was passed.

A striking finale to the John Y. McKane affair is the announcement that his wife has been obliged to mortgage her home-stead to procure the means of support. Where are the many secular "Is her husband had in his day of power, and what of the Sunday school associates he formerly led, it is to be presumed, in a devotional way?"

A general election at an early date is looked for in Canada. The school trouble in Manitoba is expected to cause revolt among the French-Canadian supporters of the Government, and unless some measure to secure to them separate State added schools in Manitoba is introduced a dissolution is thought liable at any date.

Because Sir Julian Pauncefote, England's Minister to the United States, signed as passenger the testimonial to our new American steamer St. Louis, his action was brought up by a member from Cork. It was explained that he signed as man and not as Minister.

Senator Quay has given up a fishing trip on which he had started to be a proxy delegate to the Pennsylvania Republican State convention, and will begin a contest for the chairmanship of the Republican State Central committee of that State.

President Roosevelt of the New York city police board says he will enforce the Sunday closing law in that city against the hotels as well as the saloons, and that big and little must obey the law if his ability can be made equal to his will.

The seventh annual congress of the Scotch-Irish in this country began at Lexington, Va., Thursday, to continue three days. Robert Bonner is president, and Rev. Dr. John Hall of New York city is among the speakers.

Gov. Altgeld was hung in effigy at Bloomington, Ill., at midnight Wednesday by the students of the State Normal college there, for causing the abolition of the high school connected with that institution.

It is remarked that now for the first time the cause of Cuban independence is being favored in the European press. Rochfort's paper and Le Temps are both urging insurgents claims upon French attention at this time.

The lawyers fees in the famous Morrison will contest reached $90,000, nearly one-sixth of that estate, of which ex-President Harrison received the largest of $16,000.

Each state and territory, except Alaska and the District of Columbia, will receive from the government $21,000 for agricultural college uses for the fiscal year 1896.

It is said that eighty-five per cent of the population of Wales still speak the Welsh language.

Royal Arcanum.

Tomorrow is the 18th anniversary of the Royal Arcanum and Berkshire Council No. 839 will attend divine service at St. Marks church, Adams. Rev. L. Zahner, a member of the local council preaches a fraternal sermon. The car leaves Main street at 6.35 p. m.

The order was started with nine members, now numbering nearly 700,000, has disbursed to the widows and orphans of the deceased members over $30,000,000 and is now collecting and paying about $1,000,000 a day in benefits, and yet the average cost per $1,000 protection to each member is not ten dollars per year. The council in this town now in its 12th year with a membership of 127 has had but four deaths, $12,000 being paid to the beneficiaries. The council is prospering, applications being received at nearly every meeting.

—George F. Miller has settled the loss on Francoeur's bakery stock at $330.

—George F. Miller has sold a No. 15 E. C. Morris & Co. safe to Welch Bros. of State street.

—Special Enumerator Hoxie has been looking after the census work in northern Berkshire this week.

—The prudential committee and C. E. Whitney went up today to the Notch to arrange for beginning work on the new reservoir.

—The two-year-old son of W. H. Ingraham fell down some steps at Mr. Ingraham's home last night and fractured his arm.

—Columbia orchestra will play at the party to be given Monday night by Miss Bertha Fairfield at her home in honor of Miss Thayer of Pawtucket, R. I.

—Manager Stedman has put in fourteen telephones since the first of June and has orders for three more. Most of them are long distance telephones.

—Captain Jacob North has been engaged by the owners of the Zoor sulphur mine to visit the mine again Monday and make a thorough investigation.

—Two beautiful selections for the Tuesday evening concert at the Congregational church will be contributed to the program by Miles R. Bracewell. Be sure to hear them.

—Miss Jeannie Pottinger, the pianist for the Tuesday concert, is considered one of the best accompanists in New York. Hear her play the famous Kreutzer Sonata with Mr. Feininger.

—Burt Bowen, who works in a shoe factory, had his eye painfully injured yesterday by a piece of steel becoming embedded in it. Dr. Stafford removed the steel from the eye this morning.

—Whitney Brothers are moving C. T. Phelps' house on Hall street back upon the lot and are building the cellar of a double tenement house on the site of the one removed. They have begun work on Fred White's house on Church street.

—H. W. Larrabee is finishing a house on Walnut street for Henry Clark. Mr. Clark has worked in the shoe factories for years, and some time ago he bought six acres of land on Walnut street for a home. When his house is done he will retire to this comfortable home and live in well earned ease and quiet.

—Manager Stedman says the materials to be used in placing the telephone wires under ground have been bought and that the work is liable to be begun at any time now. Mr. Stedman expected it to begin long before this and does not know why it has been postponed.

—Mr. Feininger selected "Allegro Pathétique" by Ernst, one of those compositions which present most tremendous technical difficulties. Mr. Feininger played these bewildering runs in octaves, sixths and thirds with astonishing facility and precision." This artist plays here next Tuesday evening in the Congregational church.

—Note Dame parochial schools closed yesterday. Rev. Fathers Jeannette and Rioux examined the pupils during the week and found them very proficient. The schools will not open again until September and the sisters will take a vacation in Montreal. The mother superior gives the children an excellent record in deportment.

—Fred Mallory was overcome by heat Thursday while slating on Mrs. Hunter's house on Summer street. He felt badly and left the roof to get a drink of water, but became unconscious soon after reaching the ground. Cold water was applied to his head and he soon revived. It was fortunate he left the roof before losing consciousness.

—Byron G. Briggs will not be able to carry his plan of a boy's symphony orchestra into action until the latter part of July or early in August because a number of the pupils are gone on their vacation. About forty-five people have already pledged themselves to attend rehearsals and it is believed the movement will be very successful.

—Preparations are being made to supply the high land northeast of Wesleyan hill with water, which will be brought from the new Notch reservoir. Some of the pipe has already been delivered. Water will be carried as far as Dr. Millard's farm and all that section will be well supplied. The main pipe will run from the corner of East Main and Pleasant streets through the Union to the territory to be supplied.

—The Adams Power company has secured in the Zylonite not only a large plant, but also a valuable water privilege. The wells at the Zylonite give about 800,000 gallons of water in every twenty-four hours. This amount would about meet the demands of Adams and it is a wonder attention is not turned towards Zylonite and the flowing wells instead of Cheshire harbor and a gang well system.

—The tenth regiment reunion at Shelburne Falls yesterday passed off very successfully, about 125 veterans being present. The people of Shelburne Falls received the old soldiers very cordially and did all they could to make the occasion what it should be. A good dinner was served and some excellent speeches were heard. The campaign in the evening was a happy affair and most of the North Adams men remained to attend it, coming home on the midnight train. The reunion will be held in this town next year. It was held here seven years ago and is well remembered as one of the largest and happiest reunions the regiment has ever held.

SKIPPED HIS BOARD BILL.
A Species of Acting Too Real to be Pleasant.

George H. Willey and wife left town Wednesday. They had been here some time. Mr. Willey being a theatrical man. He engineered the comic opera, "The Miller's Daughter," which was given by local talent some time ago, and later collected a company and opened a season of comic opera at Columbia opera house.

His company was a good one, but owing to warm weather and other causes the venture did not pay and the enterprise was abandoned Saturday night. The company scattered but Mr. and Mrs. Willey remained till Wednesday. They were boarding with Mrs. Briggs in the Jones block on Bank street. Wednesday morning Mr. Willey told Mrs. Briggs that his wife was going away, but that he should be in town two or three days to attend to a law suit growing out of his opera business here. He was owing Mrs. Briggs from $15 to $18 for board and he said he would pay as soon as the suit was ended. He said he had a diamond ring and a gold watch which he would pawn rather than beat a board bill, and dwell on the fact that under no circumstances would he defraud the wife of a brother Pythian. Mrs. Briggs had confidence in the man, but has none now. She has not seen him since that interview. During the time he and Mrs. Willey boarded with Mrs. Briggs he paid only $5.

Special Town Meeting.
A special town meeting will be called by the selectmen for Saturday, July 6.
The town treasury is very low and this meeting is called for the purpose of raising money to pay the necessary town expenses. The matter of straightening Dean street, which has been talked of for over a year will be brought up and undoubtedly a sum will be appropriated to carry on the work. After the street is straightened this will surely become a valuable business street.

The State Road.
The selectmen have not as yet been able to arrange with the state highway commission in regard to the state road.
The commission refused to grant the petition submitted to them, for the road.
Chairman Ezra N. Jones of the selectmen will go to Boston early in July to act in the matter.

A Rifle Match.
Yesterday noon Lieutenant H. O. Hicks of Company M's rifle team received word from Company H of the naval brigade of Springfield, that they will shoot here on July 4, unless some unforeseen obstacle comes up. There will be a number of the state companies try to beat our regimental champions during the coming season and for that reason the marksmen are to keep in constant practice.

Lawn Fete Postponed.

To Elect a Captain.
Company M will meet Tuesday evening to elect a captain to fill the vacancy caused by Captain Jones' resignation and whatever vacancies the new election may cause. It is more than probable that Lieutenant Hicks will become captain and the other commissioned officers will rise in regular order.

Sacred Heart Statues Unveiled.
There was a large congregation at St.
Charles church last evening to witness the ceremonies which occurred. Over 100 promoters of the league of the sacred heart, including those from Cheshire, received diplomas and crosses. The new statue of the league was unveiled. It is an artistic piece of work, being a statue of Jesus, and emblematical of this society which is formed in His honor. Rev. Fr.
Conway, a new York Paulist father, and head of the sacred heart league, gave a very fine sermon which was followed by prayer. The church was nicely decorated with flowers, and the altars were more than ordinarily beautiful, with floral designs. A like ceremony was held at the church of Notre Dame and Rev. Fr. Leveardi preached the sermon.

St. Jean Baptiste Celebration.
Tomorrow will be a gala day for the St.
Jean Baptiste society. It is the feast of their patron saints and they are to celebrate it in a befitting manner, by attending a mass at 10.30 o'clock, in company with the North Adams society, who will come to Adams on special electrics, at 9.30 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Brouncault of Holyoke will deliver the sermon. In the evening the new statue of St. John will be uncovered and dedicated.

The Zylonite Works.
The Adams Power company's officers say they will soon be able to give to the public, their whole intentions. At present the outlook for the company is very promising. Together with the power furnished by the 300-horse-power engine at the works, it is intended to feed 35 acres south of the mill and utilize it for power. The complete list of officers of the new company, is as follows: President, Charles A. Howland; secretary, C.

H. Williams of New York; treasurer, H.
W. Wellington; directors, L. L. Brown, is meeting with popular favor.

Every day the well-searching party alight from the train at Cheshire Harbor looking for a flow of water for the Adams service supply. The supply is not yet found in force enough to boil above ground though the water is thought to be enduring enough to be pumped from these wells. The party were lastly at work on the Wells farm.

Several young people here attended the church exercises at the Adams Catholic church last evening.

Mrs. D. F. Backlin was presented with a nice book from the principal, Miss Hitchcock, and the boys of the graduating class as a token of regard for her service in training them for selections in music for the exercises.

Editor Chase will leave town today practically cured.

A mail on the first train north to Adams and North Adams would greatly convenience the public, as there is no letter arrangement whereby the business people can do any mailing before the postal train that goes at noon. There was a mail closed about a few years ago but it was not a paying thing. Paying is not what is wanted, but convenience.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

Local Literature.
J. S. Zelle, '87, and Carroll Perry, '90, have prepared a volume entitled, "Bill Pratt, the Sawbuck Philosopher." It is a sketch of the famous old character known to every citizen of Williamstown by his peculiar eloquence and oddities. It is a most humorous biography and the people of Williamstown have a treat in store for them. The book contains a picture of

Bill and many of his speeches exactly as they were delivered by him. The authors are to be congratulated. They have given us a delicious book.

Perhaps it would be of interest to our readers to know in what way the class of
'95 is to be disposed of for the next year.
Five of the eleven graduates are to resume their studies next fall; Misses Burr and Mears will go to Vassar college; Mr.
Jenks, Mr. Andrews and Mr. White will take up their studies at Williams; Miss Ivomette Whitney will probably teach; as to the other five we are not able at present to state what their future course will be.

Miss Millie Kraft entertained a number of friends at her home on Snider avenue Friday evening. Whist was indulged in and a very pleasant time enjoyed by all.

Miss May of Syracuse, N. Y., is visiting Miss Alice Sabin. She will remain for the commencement exercises.

Mrs. C. B. F. Pease of West Troy, N. Y., is visiting her brother, Cashier Chas. S.
Cole.

The sophomores held their class supper at the hotel last night. It has formerly been held in Albany, but as so few were going to attend this year it was thought best to hold it nearer home.

The junior class supper took place in Albany last night.

Miss Grace Conrad of North Adams has been visiting friends in town.

John R. Ward, who was very badly injured in the wreck at Lexington, Ky.
some two months ago, is improving quickly and was able to return to Williamstown last Wednesday.

William Stone, '94, is in town for commencement week.

The commencement exercises begin tonight with the moonlight speaking in the Congregational church.

Williams plays Amherst at Amherst this afternoon.

The Congregational club presented Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mather with a beautiful sofa and an elegant plush chair.

R. F. Graham of Lee was in town yesterday looking after his brother's business.

Samuel Bowerman, ex-'97, who has been traveling in Europe for some months, is in town for commencement.

Miss Jennie Bates of Claverick college is home for the summer vacation.

Miss Estelle Danforth left this morning for the Lake Ontario region where she will pass the summer.

About 10 o'clock last evening lower Main street was rather uproarious. A woman was berating her husband for non-support. For half an hour sarcasm, angry threats and "scenes," entertained the neighbors. The affair appeared to terminate quite peacefully.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hoyt drove to Pittsfield yesterday, with the pair of long-tailed bays which have been in Mr. Hoyt's possession for two weeks. Mr. Hoyt exchanged the long-tails for a pair of bays with short tails.

Crosby Doughty will enter Williams in the fall.

Mrs. Doughty left yesterday for Lawrenceville, N. J., where Mr. Doughty will join her next week in time to attend the graduating exercises of the class of '95 of which Crosby Doughty is a member.

Especially interesting is caused by the fact that Crosby Doughty was chosen class poet and has written an ode which will be sung by the class.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith spent Friday in Pittsfield.

Mr. and Miss Crosby, with their mother, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H.
Doughty.

Palms and hot house plants are arriving for the decorations for commencement which begins tonight with the Graves prize contest in the Congregational church at 8 o'clock.

BLACKINTON.
Blackinton and Williamstown nine cross bats at 3 o'clock today at Blackinton.

Robert Schouler arrived home from Fort Plain, N. Y., yesterday.

Blackinton was well represented at the Drury graduating exercises last night, and all felt proud of the able manner in which Miss Annie Eadie acquitted herself.

The attention of the road commissioners ought to be called to the condition of the walk they have left half built on East Main street. It is only a question of time before the town will be called upon to settle for damages unless something is done. Falls are of frequent occurrence.
Last evening was no exception, as one of our most respected citizens narrowly escaped serious injury.

Patrick Fleming, the company's teamster, while loading hay yesterday afternoon narrowly escaped a bad accident. Some small boys were playing ball when one of them hit one of the oxen with the ball.

The ox started suddenly throwing Mr.
Fleming to the ground and stunning him.
One of the wheels of the cart, which weighed one hundred pounds when empty, passed over his body. Boys should be careful when playing ball in the public street.

A Great Demonstration.
LONDON, June 22.—An international demonstration was held in the Royal Albert hall, Kensington, by the W. C. T. U. people. It is estimated that 10,000 persons were present. A bodyguard of soldiers of the navy, protectors of Miss Agnes Weston escorted the speakers to the platform.
Several of the speakers had medals conferred upon them in recognition of their many years' abstinence from intoxicating liquors.

Gladstone to the Rescue.
LONDON, June 22.—Today's Irish Chronicle declares that the rumor to the effect that Mr. Gladstone will return to the house of commons is correct, and adds that he will lead the Liberals at the next general election. His object is the carrying of a home rule measure, and thus finally settling the national quarrel.

Thirteen "Jumped."
LONDON, June 21.—The Field states that 13 of the Alier screw loft at Cowes, it is alleged, because the sailing master would not recommend the removal of the lead from her keel. There was probably something else, The Field says, besides this strange story to explain the insubordination.

Warned Others.
DUMAS, Ark., June 22.—Anthony Johnson, colored, was hanged here yesterday afternoon. He confessed his crime and asked his hearers to be warned by his sad ending. Johnson killed Howard, another negro, whom he claimed had been criminally intimate with his wife.

A Big Enterprise.
KANSAS CITY, June 22.—J. C. Newton of Holyoke, president of the Des Moines and Kansas City railway, and Theo. Sherwood, general manager of the road, have concluded arrangements which will make a direct railway line from the gulf to Des Moines.

Robbers Got $5000.
TOWER, Minn., June 22.—The bank at Rahy Lake City was robbed by two masked men. One engaged Cashier Butler's attention while the other came up behind him, hit him on the head, stunning him. About $5000 was secured.

A SHAKY DECISION

Help the Brooklyn Capture Their Second Game at Boston.

BOSTON, June 21.—Frank Sexton made his debut with the home team, and while he did not win his game he pitched well, and has all the elements that characterize a winner. A decision by McDonald in the sixth inning, which was rather shaky, assisted in the defeat of Boston. The buses were full and Bannan came to the bat.
He sent a grounder to Corcoran, forcing Lowie at second. Daily threw to Lachance, who performed a puzzling act with the ball. Tenney had crossed the plate, but McDonald called Bannan out, which resulted the side. A sharp kick resulted, but McDonald was firm and deaf to all arguments.

BANK STREET.

Shooting Will Undoubtedly End in Death.

Perpetrator Claims He Thought a Member of the Mafia Was Pursuing Him.

BOSTON, June 22.—The West End was the scene of another Italian shooting affair about 10 o'clock last night, which will undoubtedly prove fatal. Giocchino Cocchiara, aged 38 years, who runs a barber shop at 177 Cambridge street, and lives in the rear of his shop, shot Antonio Armiliss, 26 years old, in the side and neck, the shooting taking place in the front of the shop.
The two men had been together nearly all the afternoon and had been drinking together, and the police claim that there had been a dispute over the attentions paid by Antonio to Cocchiara's wife, and that Antonio came back to the shop just before the shooting to settle the affair with his friend. He had been in the shop but a few minutes when he came running out, and as he did so witnesses state that two shots were fired.

As the shots were fired, Antonio stumbled and fell upon the sidewalk, and as he fell Cocchiara

Fired Two More Shots
as he lay upon the sidewalk, both of which took effect. The first two shots having gone wide of the mark.

Patrolman Gallagher, on whose route the shooting took place, and who was close by, heard the shots and hastened to the scene, and none too soon for the safety of the assailant.

An excited and constantly increasing crowd had gathered on the scene, and was shouting "Lynch him!" as the officer rushed up. The crowd tried to get at the man who did the shooting, and although the assailant was frequently struck by the crowd, Patrolman Gallagher was enabled to keep them at bay until help arrived.

Cocchiara was brought in and placed before his victim at the hospital, who positively identified him. Cocchiara was then taken to the station and locked up on a charge of assault with intent to kill, and this charge will be changed to that of murder in the event of Armiliss' death.

At the station Cocchiara gave as his version of the shooting that he has been pursued by the Mafia, and for that reason he has kept arms about him or within reach, and that as he was in front of his shop he saw a man approach him whom he knew was one of the Mafia and after him.

Cocchiara is a well-known character, being, it is said, the man who turned up the Italian murderers in the famous Cunningham murder in Milton a few years ago, and he has claimed since that time that he was a marked man by the Mafia for the part he took in the case.

The police who are at work upon the case think that he is using this as a shield to try and escape the consequences of his shooting Armiliss by making it appear that he shot him accidentally, mistaking him for one of the Mafia.

Class Day at Harvard.
CAMBRIDGE, June 22.—The class day of the Harvard class of '95 is now a thing of the past. Harvard's class days vary very little from year to year. The same program is carried out in the same way, the same kind of class day girls are always there, and one year's festival is much like another's. The weather yesterday could not have been improved upon. As usual there was little done in the morning aside from literary exercises in Sanders. The exercises here were unusually interesting and the oration by Edward H. Warren was greeted with tumultuous applause. The other parts, the by oration by W. K. Brier, the poem by C. M. Plummer and the ode by C. E. Noyes were fully up to the standard of class day productions. The struggle at "the tree" for flowers was unusually lively. Fireworks, the singing of the glee club in the yard, the playing of the band and mandolin club on the lawn school steps and dancing in the gymnasium passed away the evening.

Bullet in His Hip.
WORCESTER, June 22.—George C. Gordon, a member of the graduating class at the Worcester Polytechnic institute, was accidentally shot in the hip about four o'clock yesterday morning by a fellow student. The wound is not considered necessarily fatal. The students refuse to divulge the name of the young man who did the shooting.

Deadly Sewer Gas.
BOSTON, June 22.—Harry Ward, George F. Chase and Patrick Maloney were overcome by sewer gas while at work in a manhole in East Boston yesterday. Ward was carried away by the gas, and was taken out at once, opening 300 feet distant. He died soon afterward. Maloney and Chase were revived after hard work.

Coal From Cape Breton.

This information was made known through a letter received from Secretary of State Olney yesterday afternoon.

true to their king, the husband who had conspired against her, and true to their country.

Francis Eugene Blake.
Spoke "For Better American Roads." He told of the marvelous development of this country and to what an extent the United States had surpassed all European countries in many lines of progress, but these lines of progress are not in the building of roads. Mr. Blake said he believed a large share of the money expended in road making in this country was wasted because of the poor quality of the material used and the incompleteness in road structure. He spoke of the excellence of macadamized state roads and said he believed it to be the ushering in of a new era in the building of American highways. Mr. Blake made the statement that a horse could draw four times as heavy a load over a macadamized road as over the usual country road in spring-time.

A solo, "The Red Seal," was very pleasingly rendered by Mr. Willis.

Miss Anne Elizabeth Eadie
Read an essay on the "Benefactors of Education." She said that the world will always give praise to those who deserve it. She told of what different men have done for the world in regard to education. She spoke of Peter Cooper and his gift of $2,000,000 for the building of an educational institution which should be a place of education for those who needed help. She told of the founding of Vassar college, of Wesleyan, of Harvard, of Yale and of Princeton, and of the founder of Williams college, the hero of Fort Massachusetts. She said that education stood for the improvement of humanity and the advancement of Christianity.

Marcus Morton Dean
Delivered the honorary oration and spoke upon "Wealth and the Commonwealth." Mr. Dean said that during the past two centuries a complete change has taken place in the labor affairs of the world. There have become two factions, the employer and the employee. He said he admitted that affairs were in an unhealthy growth, but that competition and not division of capital was the lever that could lift this growth from a rotting foundation.

As an example of the latter, Mr. Dean cited the Russians, order and pronounced it to be a failure. He said that in this life would come the survival of the fittest. Competition is a product of civilization in business men; it is these men that have given that spirit of competition to our city that has enabled its light to shine far over our Berkshire hills, and to be seen throughout the length and breadth of our Commonwealth.

A song, "The Old Folks at Home," was rendered so well by the "teachers quartette" that an encore was called.

Miss Jessie Mable Fiege
Traced "The Growth of the English Language." She began with the Anglo-Saxon race and told of the various changes that had been wrought in the language by conquest, of the advantages of the coming of the printing press, and of what changes social life and invention had made.

Miss Fiege showed how, that as soon as needed new words were adopted. She spoke of the wonderful manner in which the English language had spread; how that from the British Isles this language had gone out to five-eighths of the inhabitants of the globe.

Max Howard Miner
Gave the class history. He said that to a casual observer the history of every class seemed the same, but that to the members of a class of which they are a part that class has a strong individuality; and that the class of '95 has an individual history.

Mr. Miner said that his remarks would be a series of reminiscences, and from the entrance of the class, with laughable incidents, he traced its course through school. The class entered with a membership of fifty-one and was graduated with a membership of eleven. The historian told of the different teachers the class had studied under, and when Mr. Spaulding's name was mentioned applause followed.

Mr. Miner told of the different sleigh-rides the class had had and the many pleasant memories of delightful parties that they would take with them as they went to the domestic co-operation, and said he hoped that in later life the past would seem as pleasant as the future now looks.

His class then rendered "The New Hail Columbia."

Miss Sara Genevieve Wood
Read an essay upon "Domestic Co-operation." Miss Wood spoke of the fact that the life of women. She said that their work was never done, but was a constant drudgery. One means of domestic co-operation, all should live as one family and the cooking for all the families should be one great institution. Miss Wood showed how this would save expense and materially lessen the burdens of the wife and mother. If this scheme were adopted she thought women could lead a more pleasurable existence and be more enjoyable companions to their husbands and children.

William John McGurk.
The valedictorian spoke upon "School Administration." Mr. McGurk was greeted with applause. He said that the point where we fail in our school government is in lack of centralization of direction. It is impossible for the public to judge as to where fault lies. The school board and the board of supervision should be distinctively apart. The discipline, appointment of teachers, buying of books and such matters belong wholly to the superintendent. The school committee is composed of business men who are forced to make school matters a secondary consideration, and should have no part in this. Mr. McGurk said the school committee should tend to all other matters, such as appropriations, repairs, etc., and that their meetings should be public (applause). He said that the greatest care should be taken in the selection of teachers, for one teacher depends largely the fate of the class's good work.

Mr. McGurk in closing addressed a few words to his classmates.

All the speakers were heartily applauded.

Presentation of Diplomas.
O. A. Archer, in presenting the diplomas to the graduates, addressed to them a few words of advice and encouragement. He thought they had held up the standards of Drury well. He said that those who went out into the world now, stood upon the threshold of life. He said that with age comes sorrow and strife and that between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one a young man thinks he knows more than at any other time of life. In youth he said the horizon is limited and the hard blows that would characterize have not been received. Mr. Archer said he would like to change their motto from "Truth Before Favor" to "Truth and Faithfulness." Truth and faithfulness, he said, are the two great qualities that lift up a man. Mr. Archer gave them his best wishes for future happiness and God speed.

After the speaking the graduates received their friends on the platform. When the church was deserted the undergraduates cheered again and again in front of the building and sang school songs.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Continues to Be Exceptionally Favorable in Nearly All Branches.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Bradstreet's today says: The feature of the business week is the customary check to activity in trading in staple articles of merchandise, due to the near approach of midsummer, with the accompanying stock-taking in some lines.

In addition to this, perhaps the only other feature not pointing to improvement is the reaction of prices of cotton, coal, wheat flour, wheat, corn, oats, pork and lard from previous relatively high levels. In almost all other directions, however, the business situation and outlook are exceptionally favorable.

Notwithstanding the reaction in the price of cotton, cotton goods in some instances are higher, with the market quiet and likely to remain so until after July 1. Woolen goods are quiet, with mills fairly well employed where labor troubles have not interfered. Trading in wool has been very heavy.

The remarkable strength of the demand for iron and steel continues, perhaps, the most striking feature.

Another large bank clearing total from 74 cities in the United States this week—$1,076,000,000—is evidence of the maintenance of a relatively large volume of trading, as purely speculative transactions have declined in volume of late.

At eastern cities the approach of midsummer begins to show itself variously, in some lines by checked volumes of sales, and in others through preparations to send out travelers on July 1 to take orders for fall delivery—shoes and textiles at Boston and Providence, staple merchandise of all varieties at New York, shoes and textiles at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and shoes, hats and clothing at Baltimore.

FOR THE FROZEN NORTH.
Peary Relief and Scientific Expedition Leaves Brooklyn Today.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The World says: The steamship Fortia sails from Brooklyn today, and will carry the members of the Greenland scientific expedition of 1895 to St. John's, N. F. Here they will board the steam barkentine Kite, and will sail for Greenland about July 1.

LIEUTENANT PEARY AND WIFE.

The expedition will be under the direction of Emil DuRoi of Washington, and the party will be composed of Professor Rollin D. Salisbury of Chicago university; Professor L. L. Dyche of the Kansas state university; Theodore Le Boultilier of Philadelphia, and Dr. John E. Walsh of Washington. The only passenger will be Echi-ocha, better known as Bill, the little Eskimo girl, who, during the past winter has resided with Mrs. Peary in Washington.

Colombians' Complaint.

COLON, June 22.—The Colombian press proposes the abrogation of the treaty of 1846 between the United States of New Granada (Colombia). There argument is that the United States violated this treaty, which contains a most favored nation clause, by proclaiming a discriminating tariff on Colombian products under the reciprocity clause of the McKinley law, a course which was adopted on account of Colombia's refusal to enter into a reciprocity treaty as provided under that clause of the McKinley law. The Colombian representative at Washington proposes to claim damages from the United States for the discrimination against Colombian products in the proclamation complained of.

Poison in Paragorio.

HONOLULU, N. Y., June 22.—The wife of George Huber, living near Fremont, gave her two children, Rose, aged 2, and Fred, aged 7, a dose of paragon, taking some of the medicine herself. The girl and mother died shortly after in terrible agony, but the boy's life was saved. Last winter Mrs. Huber gave a child a dose from the same bottle and the child died shortly afterward, supposedly from suffocation. It is thought that poison was contained in the medicine through a druggist's error.

Duke of Westminster's Thanks.

LONDON, June 22.—The Duke of Westminster has addressed a reply to the memorial of the Americans in America, thanking them for their support. He adds that the adhesion of the great republic to the cause of suffering Armenia cannot surely be without great effect upon the Porte; all the more so as she is comparatively disinterested in questions affecting the balance of power in the East.

HAYANA, June 22.—General Campos is quite well at Santiago de Cuba, and the report about his being wounded is not true.
